Why NAWT?

One of the key aspects of NAWT's training program is the desire to establish working education partnerships with state associations and other organizations to deliver high quality education programming to practicing professionals in the onsite wastewater treatment fields. These courses and activities are directed at pumpers, service providers, installers, inspectors, consultants and engineers.

NAWT is willing to work with your organization to provide the workshops and programs needed to develop a program unique to your area's needs. All programs come with NAWT's Train The Trainer element.

For more information email the NAWT executive office at info@nawt.org.

Our Mission

"The mission of the National Association of Wastewater Technicians is to unify the voice of the wastewater management industry, while increasing its professionalism and public image through education of industry members and the public, and the development and national representation of individuals and state associations, allowing our industry to exchange ideas and concerns for the betterment of our members, the environment, and the general public.

To accomplish this mission, we have the following goals & purposes:

- Be the effective voice of the industry, an industry that provides essential services to maintaining a healthful environment.
- Overcome the problem that our industry has not been recognized and addressed by elected and appointed officials on all levels of government.
- Give national support for positions taken by state and local groups on legislative and regulatory issues consistent with federal standards.
- Be the information center for the industry and serve as a communication and education conduit for the gamut of people from public officials to the homeowner.
- Assist in developing, organizing, and building membership in state associations. Identify, organize, and utilize the purchasing power of the Association to the advantage of its members in the area of products and service we use.

If you would like to volunteer or be a part of a NAWT committee, please contact our Executive Office at info@nawt.org.

Board of Directors

NAWT owes much of its leadership, support, and confidents to its Board of Directors. Encompassing the mission above and vision of NAWT, our Board of Directors is a diverse group of professionals in the field that are all committed to advancing our work, maximizing our impact and provided up to date information, training and resources to our members and non-members.
